(b) The gap between the price realisation of the farmers and the prices consumer pay can be due to many reasons including the multiple players in the long linear supply chain, the type of marketing channel followed and distance of consuming market from the producing areas.

(c) The Central Government has advised the State Government by circulating a Model Agricultural Produce Marketing (Development & Regulation) Act in 2003 to make amendments in their respective Agricultural Produce Marketing Committee (APMC) Acts to allow direct marketing, contract farming and to promote setting up of competitive markets in private and cooperative sectors. The development of alternative competitive market in private and cooperative sector would privide freedom to farmers to sell their produce in such markets, ensuring for them better prices/services. Since agriculture marketing is a state subject, it is for the State Governments to amend the APMC Act as it suits them. Agriculture and Processed Food Products Export Development Authority (APEDA) is also making efforts to link the farmers to the major retailers for better price realisation by the farmers.
